DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The terms “open upper surface” in claim 15, line 7 is vague and indefinite because it is unclear to one of ordinary skill in the art what applicant means by “open upper surface”. It is unclear how the surface can be both a surface and open at the same time since surface infers being closed.

Clarification and/or correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 13-17 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lewis (US 5,481,767).

Regarding claim 13, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat capable of being in both an open orientation and a closed orientation (FIG-3, #10 open orientation and FIG-1, #10 closed orientation), comprising a surface having a removable fabric mat (FIG-3, #10);

Art Unit: 1772

a substantially elongate portion (FIG-3, #14) engagable with the removable fabric mat on the surface (FIG-3, wherein #14 and #10 are attached by hook and loop fasteners #42 and #44);

side storage portions having pockets for storing items which, in the open orientation, extend laterally from, and at least partially along, a length of the substantially elongate portion (FIG-3, pockets #18 and #40 and col. 3, ll. 39-42, plurality of pockets), the mat being foldable and able to be fastened, via fastening means, in the closed orientation into a portable bag (col. 2, l. 60, "folded", FIG-1 hook and loop fasteners #36 and #38 and FIG-1 portable bag); and a means for carrying the mat (FIG-2, straps #24 and #26).

Regarding claim 14, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat wherein the means for carrying the mat is a handle attached to an additional surface of the mat (FIG-1, #24 and #26).

Regarding claim 15, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat wherein the substantially elongate portion (FIG-3, #14) has a first end that is foldable and engagable with the fastening means on the side storage portions with the first end of the substantially elongate portion forming a front face of a bag having an open upper surface (FIG-2 wherein #14 is foldable and wrappable around #10 and fastened by hook and loop fasteners, #36 and #38).

Regarding claim 16, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat wherein the substantially elongate portion has a second end that opposes the first end, the second end being foldable over the front face and capable of being fastened thereto (FIG-2 wherein #14 is wrapped around #10 and fastened by hook and loop fasteners, #36 and #38).

Regarding claim 17, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat comprising a cover for closing the portable bag (FIG-1, covering #12).

Regarding claim 19, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat wherein the means for carrying the mat is a handle attached to an upper surface of the portable bag in the closed orientation of the mat (FIG-1, handles #24 and #26).

Regarding claim 20, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat wherein the means for carrying the mat include back straps for carrying the mat in the closed orientation (FIG-2, #30).

Regarding claim 21, Lewis ('767) teaches a mat further comprising storage pockets on a front face of the portable bag in the closed orientation (FIG-1, open end #22 of pocket #18).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lewis (US 5,481,767) in view of Rocha (US 5,275,463).

Lewis ('767) teaches the mat discussed above, however, fails to teach wherein the fastening means are snap locks.

However, Rocha ('463) teaches wherein the fastening means are snaps, hook and loops or other functionally equivalent fastening means (col. 4, l. 3, col. 3, ll. 49-53 and FIG-6, #45 and #48 for the purpose of providing an easily adjustable fastening means (col. 3, ll. 52-54)).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time applicant's invention was made to modify Lewis's ('767) hook and loop fasteners with functionally equivalent snaps as taught by Rocha ('463) in order to provide a mat as described above since Lewis ('767) and Rocha ('463) are both directed towards rolled mats.
